M. EUGENE LINCOLN

Nominated for Judge of Probate by Democratic Caucus.

The democratic probate convention for the district of Windham was held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the council chamber in the Town building. Chairman William C. Backus of the district committee calling the same to order at that hour.

Six out of the seven delegates were present either personally or by proxy. Organization was effected by the election of M. Eugene Lincoln chairman and A. L. Moffitt secretary. The delegates in attendance were: L. Moffitt of Scotland, M. Eugene Lincoln, James Haggerty, proxy for J. O'Sullivan, A. C. Scripps, James J. Donahue, proxy for O. O. Tanner, Frank P. Fontaine, proxy for James Twomey, Charles Murray of Scotland was the only absentee.

Nominations were called for and James Haggerty obtained the floor, addressing the convention, saying that while the man whom he intended to nominate and not been seen by him and he had not heard that he was a candidate, and in fact, had never seen him, he was sure that he was the man for the position and that he would vote for him. He then nominated M. Eugene Lincoln. The nomination was seconded by Frank P. Fontaine. Mr. Lincoln stated to the convention that he was greatly surprised, as the matter had not even entered his head and that he believed that some one else should be nominated, mentioning that he was a layman. The members of the convention dissuaded him from his initial inclination to decline, assuring him that it made absolutely no difference whether he was a layman or where some of the most able judges of probate have been and are laymen. A ballot was called for and Mr. Lincoln received 5 and Mr. Harvey 1. On motion of Mr. Haggerty the ballot was made unanimous. Mr. Lincoln was declared the nominee. In accepting the nomination, Mr. Lincoln said: "I will do the best I can for the district." He alluded to the kindly feeling that the public was at the present time entertaining for the democrats and indicated that it itself was an omen of no small moment.

William C. Backus was re-elected chairman of the district committee. A. L. Moffitt was named as his associate, representing the Scotland interests of the district.

KILLING GRAY SQUIRRELS.

Pets in Hill Section Falling Before Someone's Rifle.

There are many indignant citizens in the Hill section of the city in the vicinity of Summit street and Lewis avenue. The housewives and children also are up in arms and threaten dire things to the one who is causing their ire to rise. For some time past this fellow has been killing off the squirrels in the Hill section of the town. The little animals are very tame and have been accustomed to receive bits of food from the hands of women and children in that portion of the city. It has been reported that this fellow has even been in wait for them and shoots them down unsuspectingly while they are seeking a few morsels of food. He is laying himself liable, for he uses a rifle, it is said, and that is against a city ordinance.

Runaway Freight Car Pushes Along

Major Auto and Bruises Passenger—

Democrats, Republicans, Warren and Wright—Republican Rally to Be Addressed by Charles A. Goodwin.

A wrecked automobile was the net loss when a runaway freight car, a fatal accident Saturday morning, when a big steel coal car, heavily loaded, made a runaway from the head of the street car siding near the freight station of the New Haven road and crashed into the touring car of E. M. M. Marlor of Brooklyn, which was coming in front of Thomas' store in the Hyde block. The rear end collision split the top of the automobile and it was generally damaged the car that it is ready to be consigned to the scrap heap. The three occupants of the car escaped with a few bruises and a shaking up.

The runaway car, of 80,000 capacity, and loaded with about forty tons of coal, had a few minutes before the accident been held in by the crew of the New Haven road freight train from the steam road on to the electric car line, from where a service car of the Connecticut company was later to haul it to the power house below Danielson.

The trainmen supposed that they had taken every necessary precaution to prevent the car starting along, having secured the brakes of the automobile and set a stone and a log. A minute after the car was set, however, the pressure of its load forward forced it over the obstruction, and the wheels and it started down the street.

A warning cry called the attention of Freight Conductor Robert King to this fact and he made a race to catch the runaway. The brake was on the forward end of the car, making it not only necessary for King to catch up but also to climb up and run the brake. When he did get there he found that the brake was in such order that it could not hold against the heavy load, and although he worked like a beaver he could check the speed only a certain distance and was powerless to prevent the impending smash.

All of this part of the incident was witnessed by Mortimer Marlor, who was coming down the street.

Miss Marie L. St. Onge and William H. Beckwith of New London were in Putnam Saturday evening at 6 o'clock. The best man was Thomas Ellis of Norwich and the bridesmaid was Miss Hilda Rochelle. The bride wore a gown of green and off white with a hat to match. The bridesmaid wore green silk with a hat of similar color. A reception of similar character was given at the bride's home, where a large and elaborate supper was served to near relatives and friends. The bride received a number of elegant presents and Mr. and Mrs. Beckwith left on the 9 o'clock trolley for New London where they will reside in a newly furnished home on Montauk avenue.

Academy Pupils Tender Reception to New Pastor—Beckwith-St. Onge Marriage on Sunday Evening.

A reception was tendered the new pastor, Rev. J. O. Belknap, at the Academy of the Holy Family, this city, Saturday evening. The academy chorus expressed in song their joy at his coming, and the choir rendered a beautiful welcome to the pastor in a nicely delivered address. Father Belknap responded graciously, winning his way to the hearts of the people by the kind, friendly assurance of his interest in their welfare, and his desire to aid them in what he considered their spiritual or material advancement. An informal exchange of good wishes followed. To add to the general pleasure, in honor of Father Belknap a free day was granted, which was followed by a skating trip through the beautiful woods.

Owing to the growth of the school, important improvements are being made, including several new classrooms and a dining room for the older pupils.

By the construction of catch basins and the laying of large sewer pipe at the corner of School and Senter streets, the long contemplated project, being made by the town under the direction of Selectman John A. Gilbert, has been completed.

The bridge over the New London river at this point during the rough weather of the winter and early spring, so much, in fact, that the street has often been almost impassable.

was coming down the street. He made a rush for the trolley, in which his father and Henry Hiss of Brooklyn were sitting, all unconscious of their great danger. The trolley struck squarely on the track, top up and headed in the direction in which the car behind them was coming. Mortimer Marlor made a desperate attempt to crank the engine and get the machine out of the way, but he had barely dropped into his seat and got his hand on the steering wheel when the big coal car tore into the back of the trolley and commenced sliding the automobile forward.

To the onlookers every second threatened a fatal termination to the affair. The crushed automobile was being shunted along in a zigzag fashion and in imminent danger of crushing beneath the wheels of the heavy car. The smash had pinned the doors of the trolley in such a way that it was impossible for a full stop to be made. The trolley, however, he might get out, and Mr. Sisson, riding in a front seat, was in a like predicament. He made a full stop, this side of horror continued, to terminate as Conductor King's efforts finally brought the trolley to a full stop. The automobile swerved from the track and listed sharply as it to turn turtle.

Mrs. Marlor, who was standing near an eyewitness of the accident, grew so faint as to be near collapse. Mr. Sisson, who was seated in the car, to feel any effects of the accident, went to the office of a local physician. His car was not damaged. There was no other damage reported.

It was only through the activity of onlookers that a horse and team were not injured. The horse was dragged on the track from opposite the Evans block, where it was standing, just in time to prevent being hit by the automobile and car.

Mr. Marlor's machine was towed to Police street and the trolley was sorry a wreck of a car as has been seen here.
